

New Production To Be Shown By Marionettes

The next three weekends will feature The Allan Bratton Marionettes in their new production entitled "A Wish for the Moon" which is the fairy tale about a little princess who wishes for the moon, and how her wishes came true.

Bratton and his associates provide much joy and merriment with their performances for both young and old, when they perform at Chapel Theatre every weekend at 2 p.m.

The marionette show is a recent addition to the Chapel Theatre, located behind Smith Bros. Fish Shanty Restaurant on Pacific Coast Highway. Special parties for all occasions may be arranged by calling FR 5-5259, FR 2-5353, or FR 8-9017, evenings for information and reservations. Bratton announces that he will teach anyone interested in learning the art of puppeteering, who will then act as his associates in future performances.

1200 to Pay Tribute To L.A. School Chief

More than 1200 persons are expected to pay tribute to Edis A. Jarvis, superintendent of Los Angeles City Schools at a testimonial dinner Dec. 13 at the Satter Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles. Jarvis will retire Jan. 1 after 38 years of service to the district.

The superintendent began his career in 1924 as a science and music teacher at San Pedro High School.

However, councilmen insist safety fencing is not the city's responsibility and, have instructed city attorney Stanley Remelmeier to put pressure on county supervisors and County Flood Control District officials to force installation of guard rails.

OTHER COUNCIL business included receipt of a petition bearing 558 signatures seeking change of the city's stray animal business from the South Bay Humane Society to the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Petitioners complain of unsanitary conditions and unsatisfactory service at the shelter.

The matter was turned over to the city manager, health officer, and building superintendent for investigation and subsequent report.

APPROVAL of a crossing guard at the intersection of Henrietta and Spencer streets was given by the council in response to a petition signed by some 500 residents.

Councilmen also put an end to the once-controversial rezoning of the Marble Estates property here by rescinding the ordinance effecting a rezoning.

ACTION of the council came after Deputy City Clerk John Bramhall certified that petitions submitted calling for a referendum on the ordinance were sufficient to put the matter on the ballot.

Councilmen were unanimous in adopting a new ordinance to repeal the zoning after being told they had one of two choices: repeal the ordinance or place it on the ballot.

Charles Deck, president of the Torrance Property Owners Assn., recommended that the councilmen keep in mind the outcome of this rezoning attempt in the event future proposals were submitted for consideration.

"We got the word, Mr. Deck," Councilman Nick Drale quipped.

Only last Monday, a citizens' committee, headed by Mrs. Margaret Clark, called a public meeting to protest our poor bus service.

A proposal to combine the city and school buses into one line was made to the group by John Mulvihill.

TIME CLOCK

...for more than thirty electric "servants" who work for you at an hourly cost 21% lower than in 1939.

See those hands up there? They measure the kilowatt hours of electricity it takes to run the more than thirty electric appliances that serve the average California family. (A kilowatt hour of electricity will keep a 100-watt bulb lighted for 10 hours.)

What's so remarkable about a kilowatt hour? Nothing, unless you care how much you spend for things, as most of us do.

The average cost of electricity per kilowatt hour for Edison residential customers is 21% lower than in 1939.

Sure, your electric bill is higher now. That's because you are using more than twice as much electricity as you were in 1939. But your average cost per kilowatt hour is 21% lower.

The reason: more efficient methods of producing and delivering electricity, plus greater usage, have lowered your unit cost.

Electricity...always ready to brighten your nights, lighten your work, help you enjoy life more. What else serves you so many ways for so little cost?
